Black Friday's Offerings

Brace yourselves: Black Friday (aka Lisa Scott) is here and she's around every week. Of all the years to consume, 2020 is the most vital. Arm yourself for stress-free holidays by indulging with some delicious cannabis-infused edibles OR get some for a friend or family member in need. Bud Appétit Edibles come in all sorts of varieties. Hibiscus Ginger Elixir, Infused Honey, Assorted Cookies, Brownies and Almond Poundcake, Gummies, Soft Caramels, Buddermints, Fruit Leather Strips, Sesame Seed Crunch and Weedy Ranchers. A variety of locally-grown smoking herbs too. They're all tasty and something for everyone over 21, of course. Initiative 71 compliant makes it legal to buy a colorful Bud Appétit Tote Bag and/or T-shirt — the edibles are a gift. Browse the selection here.

The "Buy Black Movement" has always been present but it's growing stronger every day. To more easily identify black owned businesses Lisa created the Official Black Owned Business - BOB Flag!

The BOB Flag was created to quickly identify, spread awareness and drive business to BOBs. Consumers and clients who want to support and buy black will immediately know that they are a part of the black community. Black Friday should be Buy Black Friday!

If you are not black and do not own a business, but want to do something extra special for a black owned business, then you can buy one and gift it to them. Also available is the official logo for eCommerce websites, decals for vehicles, windows, and doors, posters, t-shirts, and "I support" t-shirts. Buy here.

Schmitt's Grand Trek

The best that can happen is to fulfill the dreams of one's youth." - Willa Cather. "Uh huh. Ever actually, like, try it?" -

Kathleen Schmitt.

A lame joke over the farm breakfast table just after high school turns into Kathleen's decision to ride a horse from coast to coast. It took a few years to assemble 'The Trekkers' - a national champion trail horse to ride, a half-broke half-bred as a pack horse, a protection-trained Boxer dog, and a post-college Kathleen. This solo adventure

BREAKING THROUGH THE CLOUDS

One of the reasons producer/director

Heather A. Taylor has been a member of WIFV for years is to experience

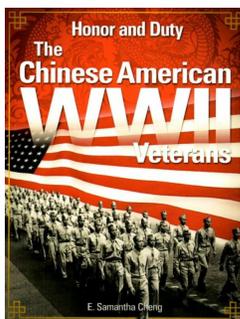

the same supportive environment the women of the Derby created more than 90 years ago.

BREAKING THROUGH THE CLOUDS: The

travel memoir recounts preparing for The Trek, the characters and challenges met along the road for each of The Trekkers, and how The Trek impacted Kathleen's later life. Humor, insights, the occasional rant, a few slides into fiction, and one moment of real terror, Kathleen invites you to come along on one life adventure that, as all adventures do, leads to another. Available in print, ebook (MOBI and EPUB) and Audiobook. Use Promo Code WIFV2020 at checkout for a 50% discount. Order your copy here.

Honor and Duty

In Honor And Duty: The Chinese American WWII Veterans, E. Samantha Cheng compiles a thorough historical record that recognizes the service and sacrifice of Chinese American veterans who contributed to America's wartime needs. The data collected and compiled for this book will serve as an indispensable source of information for family members, historians and scholars alike. This book is inspired by the DVD 3-part series, Honor and Duty: The Mississippi Delta Chinese. You can purchase the book and DVD set here.

First Women's National Air Derby (BTTC) is the inspiring true story of 20 women, including Amelia Earhart, who raced across America in the summer of 1929. With little navigational aide and plenty of public scrutiny, these aviators succeeded as pilots in spite of their social status of being female in an era where women rarely drove automobiles. Facing cultural stereotypes, mechanical failures, threats of sabotage, navigational challenges, and endless chicken dinners, the women persevered. They became ambassadors of flight in the golden age of aviation while proving women could be independent, competitive, self-sufficient, intelligent, competent, graceful and above all, really good pilots. BTTC is available at Vimeo On Demand and on DVD. Links and more information available here.

Discovering Tunisian Cuisine

In Tunisia, women are generally the cooks and reign in the kitchen. Raoudha and Hasna are no exception. They love to cook, and they took great pride in sharing their family recipes with me. In many ways, this cookbook is a personal journal recording Judith Dwan Hallett's time with two fabulous women in their kitchens. Order here.

Discovering Tunisian Cuisine is awesome and authentic both visually and content wise -- my favorite kind of cookbook. Judith Dwan Hallett, a videographer, ethnographer and daughter from a great culinary tradition -- her late mother was longtime restaurant critic of the LA Times -- has nailed Tunisian cuisine, little known by Americans. I can't wait to cook every single recipe!!! - Joan Nathan 2005 Julia Child Award Winner for Best Cookbook of the Year
