President's Message

Welcome back from the summer!

As I walked outside this morning, I heard, then saw, geese flying overhead in a perfect V formation - I always marvel at that! Next, a big yellow school bus rambled past my house. What do a skein of geese and a yellow school bus have in common? Well, maybe nothing, but for me, both signal the end of summer. And while I'm not ready to pack away my beach bag just yet, fall brings an exciting new programming season to WIFV and I might just have to ditch my beach chair after all.

The season of information begins with Melissa Grannetino, Engagement Specialist, at the Foundation Center. Melissa will lead the Grant Writing for Filmmakers program for WIFV's first Wednesday One on September 5 and will be joined by Anna Reid Jhirad and Cintia Cabib. See related article below to register for this free event for WIFV Members!

The Roundtable Groups are back in action this month with some interesting discussions for our members. The Directors Roundtable will be hosting Mark Ruppert, the Creator and Executive Producer of the 48 Hour Film Project, an international filmmaking competition that takes place in 120 cities around the world. Fiscal Sponsorship will be the topic for Doc Roundtable and the Screenwriters will be doing Five Page Readings!

The Locavore Film Series resumes on Wednesday, September 12 at the Arlington Cinema and Drafthouse with the film NOTHING TO DO by Mike Kravinsky. Locavore is one way WIFV invests in our members through

More $ Tips - Doc Roundtable: Fiscal Sponsorship

On September 10, the WIFV/Docs in Progress Documentary Roundtable will be on fiscal sponsorship. RSVP here The event will be held at Interface Media Group, 1233 20th Street NW (Dupont South Metro)

Melissa Houghton (WIFV) and Erica Ginsberg (Docs in Progress) will talk about fiscal sponsorship for documentary films. Are you planning to raise funds for your documentary through grants or from individuals who would like a tax benefit from a charitable donation? Are you a nonprofit organization? If the answer to your first question is YES and the answer to the second question is NO, you may be in need of a fiscal sponsor. This program will help demystify fiscal sponsorship for filmmakers.

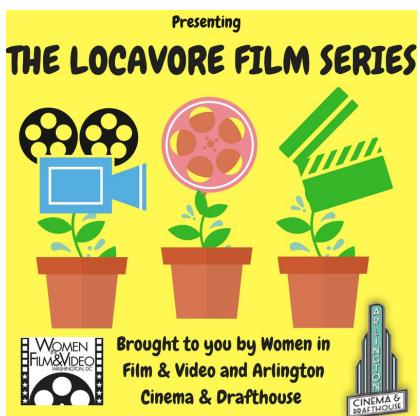

While the speakers will provide information on their respective organizations' fiscal sponsorship programs, they will also discuss the broader context for what fiscal sponsorship is, what it is not, and how to go about determining the fiscal sponsor who is the best fit for your project and needs.

The deadline to apply for WIFV Fiscal Sponsorship is October 22, 2018. Application cover sheet and checklist is available here.

NOTHING TO DO - September 12

September 12 - NOTHING TO DO by Mike Kravinsky

NOTHING TO DO is the story of 50 something Kenny, an aimless DJ at an oldies station in Philadelphia. He's called to a hospital in Washington D.C., where he's informed that his father Irv, due to many complications, is at the end of his life. Something Irv has kept from his children. It's suggested that Kenny and his father discuss hospice. Kenny's younger sister, a more accomplished person, tries to intervene. She wants to send her father back to the hospital to "get better." Nothing to do - A story of the family bonds that never die. Watch the trailer Watch the trailer here. Get your tickets here.

October 10 - LAST NIGHT by Harold Jackson III

Love at first sight wouldn't appear to stand a chance when Jon (Gavigan), a young would-be businessman at loose ends in his career, spots knockout fashion model and downright cranky Sky (Blair) in a Washington, D.C., coffee shop. He's loopy and impulsive; she's all but engaged to her upwardly mobile rock-steady boyfriend Daniel (Benton Greene). In the romantic spirit of BEFORE SUNRISE, LAST NIGHT spins an unexpected adventure when verbal sparring takes an intimate turn into soul-baring disclosures between strangers who might never meet again. November 14 - ROCK N ROLL REVIVAL DOC by Ed Santiago

At a time where other schools are eliminating their music and arts program, Sherwood High School in Montgomery County MD has managed to produce a Rock n Roll Revival show and has been doing it for the past 45 years. The documentary chronicles the history of the show as well as documenting the 45th year. Watch the trailer Watch the trailer here. Get your tickets here.

Humanitini Features VOICES OF BROOKLAND MANOR

September's Humanitini program will be co-curated by K.A. Lannigan, producer of the new film VOICES OF BROOKLAND MANOR and Women in Film & Video. The film depicts residents of the Brookland Manor neighborhood, and their grassroots efforts to ensure that residents will have guaranteed housing in the expected new mixed-use development slated to replace the community.

Join us for a screening of the film followed by a multi-generational panel conversation with residents from Brookland Manor. Residents will share their memories of the community, and their hopes for its future.

Applications Now Open for GWU Institute for Documentary Filmmaking

The Documentary Center at The George Washington University is pleased to announce that they are now accepting applications for their 2019 Institute for Documentary Filmmaking. The Institute is an advanced six-month (January through June), nine-credit program that leads to a Graduate Certificate in Documentary Filmmaking.

There are no other intensive graduate documentary filmmaking programs in the country like the one at George Washington University. For almost 30 years, they have been the only institution that offers this type of concentrated, intensive training and education in non-fiction production. The Institute for Documentary Filmmaking has been ranked one of the top ten documentary programs in the nation.

They are looking for a diverse group of storytellers from all different backgrounds to join them in 2019. Individuals who attend the Institute come from such disciplines as journalism, law, psychology, literature, science, anthropology, museum studies and education. Many participants do not have any media or filmmaking backgrounds, while others have extensive experience in these fields, so prior technical experience is not a requirement.

The Institute is highly regarded in the documentary world and, upon completion of the program, graduates do very well as they launch themselves on the life-long journey to becoming successful filmmakers.

Application Deadline: November 1, 2018
