The Life and Times of Hank Greenberg and Yoo-Hoo, Mrs. Goldberg

By Aviva Kempner

The Peabody Award-winning The Life and Times of Hank Greenberg is a humorous and nostalgic documentary about an extraordinary baseball player who transcended religious prejudice to become an American icon. Hammerin' Hank's accomplishments for the Detroit Tigers during the Golden Age of Baseball rivaled those of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

America's first Jewish baseball star was a beacon of hope to American Jews who faced bigotry during the Depression and World War II. The newly-released two disc commemorative DVD set includes more than two hours of extras, such as a never used telephone interview with Ted Williams and new interviews with Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, former player Minnie Minoso and White Sox owner Jerry Reinsdorf.

Also available is Yoo-Hoo, Mrs. Goldberg, the Ciesla Foundation's 2009 documentary about television pioneer Gertrude Berg, creator of the first television sitcom, "The Goldbergs." Both films can be purchased here.

The Girls: Sappho Goes to Hollywood

By Diana McLellan; Edited by Rebecca Howland

The Girls reveals the complex and intimate connections that roiled behind the public personae of Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Tallulah Bankhead, and the women who loved them. Private correspondence, long-secret FBI files, and troves of unpublished documents reveal a chain of lesbian affairs that moved from the theater world of New York, through the heights of chic society, to embed itself in the power structure of the movie business. The Girls serves up a rich stew of film, politics, sexuality, psychology, and stardom.

"Saucily written ... a cohesive analysis of the relationships between sexuality, feminism and power in the film industry ... an astute eye for psychological detail and a fine sense of industry power plays that bring a broader context to a new sense of scholarship to the subject ..." - Publisher's Weekly
