Music

A Very Chaise Lounge Christmas

On this dazzling Xmas album, film composer Charlie Barnett's martini-jazz sextet makes ancient carols sound utterly fresh and delivers seasonal originals so comfortable that you could swear they were standards.

"This is a quasi-retro juggernaut of cool in top form," writes Midwest Record. "[The album] is so groovy you can play it year-round." "Chaise Lounge is a delicious, subtle, swinging ensemble" adds noted jazz critic Ken Borger. "Here, at last, is new music for the season!" Order your copy here.

Films

Breaking Through the Clouds

By Heather A. Taylor

This is the inspiring true story of 20 women who raced across America in 1929.

With just a compass and a road map to guide them, Amelia Earhart and 19 other brave pilots defied convention by taking to the skies and racing across the country for the first Women's National Air Derby. Facing cultural stereotypes, mechanical failures, threats of sabotage, navigational challenges, and endless chicken dinners, the women became pioneering legends in aviation. Their story is inspiring to anyone who has the courage to follow their own dreams. Produced, directed, and written by WIFV member Heather A. Taylor, Archetypal Images, LLC.

Born Beautiful Biracial

By Tanya Hutchins

With a Foreword by Olympic Gold Medalist Dan O'Brien (Decathlon), Born Beautiful Biracial is a compilation of children's essays with advice for kids who are asked questions about their racial and ethnic backgrounds: "What are you? Are those your parents? Are you adopted?" Regardless of how we look, we live in a multicultural, multiracial world, a world where many consider Barack Obama the first black President of the United States. Barack Obama is biracial. Maybe, one of the children who reads this book may even grow up to be President one day. Hopefully, by then, it won't be such a big deal, because everyone will accept each other unconditionally. ## Poems

By Inger McPhail

"All that I have seen teaches me to trust God for all that I have not seen." This quote by Ralph Waldo Emerson speaks profoundly of the lives of three amazing female family members of the writer, Charvette. Using the name of paternal grandmother E. Vera Allen, the writer gives life to the characteristics found in her grandmothers and a great-aunt.

These wise, caring women knew happiness, sorrow, anger, and betrayal.

Their lives span periods in African-American history when communities transitioned from Jim Crow-laden breeding dens to multicultural neighborhoods. These poems give voice to the lives of these remarkable women. Order here.

Better Said Than Done defines storytelling as the art of performing a true, personal story in front of a live audience. Our stories are personal. Each storyteller writes about his or her own experiences. They are true, though, like every good story, they sometimes come with enhanced details. And they are a story, meaning they have a beginning, middle, and end. Better Said Than Done, Inc., was launched in May 2011, by Jessica Piscitelli Robinson, to bring the art of storytelling to Northern Virginia.
