President's Message

It's impossible to talk about filmmaking without talking about community. Films are not created in a bubble. It takes an entire team of people working together, often long hours, to create a piece of art. We've all heard horror stories, and have probably been on a set, where everyone is just supposed to “do what they’re told”, the hours are long, the budget is small, and no one’s having very much fun. However, if you’re lucky, you’ve also worked on a collaborative set, where everyone is allowed to do their job to the best of their ability, people are working together, the crew is well fed (and well paid), the story is compelling, and everyone generally likes each other. I had the pleasure of working on one of these sets a few weeks ago as part of WIFV’s 48 Hour Film Project team. WIFV is one of my chosen families, and the more I hang out with the talented women and men of this organization, the prouder I am to be a part of this amazing community.

I recently was elected to lead the WIFV Board for another year, and am honored to be entrusted with the responsibility of helping keep this organization running smoothly. I’m also very pleased to announce some new members to our Board: Candice Bloch, Carolyn Dodd, Jacqueline Greff, Kirk Schroder & Lisa Scott. You can check out their bios, along with the rest of the board, on our website.

As always, we have a lot of programs this summer. My favorite community-building program, the Local Filmmakers Night at Sun’s Cinema in Mt. Pleasant, just started back up. On the third Tuesday of each

Make Your National Film Registry Nominations by August 15

Women in Film & Video continues its multi-year initiative to have more women-made films included in the National Film Registry housed at the Library of Congress. Although women have been involved with movies since the movie camera was invented, their work is severely underrepresented in this national collection.

The Library of Congress maintains the National Film Registry to honor “culturally, historically or aesthetically significant films” that are at least 10 years old at the time of their inclusion in the Registry. The selected films are “works of enduring significance to American Culture.” More information about the National Film Registry can be found here.

Get started with your nominations (or viewing list) here with these films that deserve to be in the National Film Registry. We recommend you include these films:
A WOMAN’S ERROR (1922) written/directed by Tressie Souders;
THE WOMEN’S HAPPY TIME COMMUNE (1972) directed by Sheila Page; BETTY TELLS HER STORY (1972) directed by Liane Brandon;
HE’S ONLY MISSING (1978) directed by Robin Smith;
YENTL (1983) directed, produced and co-written by Barbra Streisand;
FAST FOOD WOMEN (1992) directed by Anne Lewis;
JUST ANOTHER GIRL ON THE IRT (1992) written/directed by Leslie Harris;
SLEEPLESS IN SEATTLE (1993) co-written/directed by Nora Ephron;
FREEDOM ON MY MIND (1994) produced/directed by Connie Field and Marilyn Mulford;
CLUELESS (1995) written/directed by Amy Heckerling;
LOVE AND BASKETBALL (2000) written/directed by Gina Prince-Bythewood;
THE LIFE AND TIMES OF HANK GREENBERG (2000) directed by Aviva Kempner; UNDER THE SAME MOON / LA MISMA LUNA (2007) written by Ligiah Villalobos and directed by Patricia Riggen; FROZEN RIVER (2008) written/directed by Courtney Hunt and feature debut of cinematographer Reed Morano.

You just need to include the title and year the film was made. You can nominate up to 50 films! The deadline for nominations is August 15, 2022. The nomination form is here.

Fredericksburg, VA Film Incentives

The FXBG Film Incentives Program is committed to bringing film production to the City of Fredericksburg in an effort to establish this city as a destination for film and television. More info here - Fredericksburg Film Incentives Policy

How it works:

- Every production must fill out an application.
- A production’s eligibility for incentives and the amount to be awarded will be determined by the EDA.
- Once accepted, productions must keep their paid receipts for any money spent within the 22401 ZIP code.
- Productions awarded incentives will receive a financial reimbursement from the EDA based on money spent in the 22401 ZIP code.
- The maximum reimbursement under this program will be $15,000, but lesser amounts may be awarded.

Application here.

Cynopsis Reports 817,000+ Unique Titles

The list of unique program titles in the US number over 817,000 and continues to grow, according to Nielsen’s first State of Play report. Which is cause for frustration. The vastness of platform choice has become overwhelming for audiences, with 64% of respondents saying they wish there was a bundled video streaming service that would allow them to choose as few or as many video streaming services as they want, more like channels, and 46% said it’s harder to find the video streaming content that they want because there are too many streaming services. From Cynopsis email 062222

Insights into Puerto Rican Cinema - July 12

This panel features some of the most successful and up-and-coming directors working out of Puerto Rico. In this panel, Mariem Pérez Riera (Rita Moreno: Just a Girl Who Decided to Go for It, Maldeamores), Gisela Rosario Ramos (Perfume de Gardenias, Emergencia), and Carla Cavina (Extra Terrestrials) share their experiences of making their films in Puerto Rico and the state of the Puerto Rican film industry today. Throughout their various successes and struggles on the island and in the United States, these female directors present a wide range of how Puerto Rican cinema can be defined and bring light to the systemic challenges in sustaining a film industry in Puerto Rico. Film scholar, Puerto Rican culture theorist and WIFV Board Member, May Santiago, will moderate the panel.
