Photo Session Certificate Benefits Local Doc

The Lubin Portrait Studio strongly believes in giving back and empowering the charitable community. They are known for creating timeless heirloom portraiture for families and individuals. They take pride in being a brick-and-mortar pillar of artistry for the Washington Metropolitan region. The Lubin Studio has many notable clientele like Linda Carter, Sheila Johnson, Cal Ripken, Doc Walker, Ryan Zimmerman and many more.

Lubin Portrait Studio made one certificate, valued at $2,000, available to the team behind CREDIBLE FEAR, including director Gabrielle Ewing, to help with that doc's production. The certificate includes one 11x14" gift portrait, gives you a full session with variety, as well as a regular projection session for viewing and customizations. Your cost? $500! Their certificate holds the full $2000 value with the studio if you would like to use it towards different finishes, other sizes, collections or package options. This would be a perfect gift for the holidays, or an incredible work of art to mark a special occasion in your life.

Brother Doctors: Welcome to the Family

This first in the trilogy, penned by Diana Owens as D.D. Hopkins, introduces readers to three black doctors who are brothers, all living together in a family compound with their wives and children.

Doctors take an oath to first "do no harm" and these brothers also have taken literally the saying "Am I my brother's keeper?" Raised in a home with parents who were doctors, now retired, these grown men have all become doctors at the top of their professional concentrations. Don, the oldest, a cardio-thoracic surgeon and most arrogant, is the one who can tell the other brothers what to do except in the ways of marriage. Michael, the middle, a chiropractic surgeon with his own practice lives in another state. He's considered the one to have a "regular" marriage with six children and his devoted wife. Then there's Bryce, youngest, smartest and a neurosurgeon, the most experimental in his marriage - a genius and the most adventurous in the bedroom with a wife that can keep up with him. This story tells of the doctors' intimate home lives more than their daily life in the hospital halls.

Fitzpatrick Announces Pre-Sale for Destination Stewardship

This project grew out of Tonya Fitzpatrick's work as a travel journalist and co-founder of World Footprints, where she spent years exploring how storytelling, equity, and community-centered thinking can reshape how we experience and manage destinations. It brings together insights from interviews with tourism leaders across the globe and offers practical guidance for building more resilient, inclusive visitor economies. It is now available for pre-order and will be published on April 28, 2026 in the U.S.

Cookbook and Memoir by Judith Dwan Hallet

In Tunisia, women are generally the cooks and reign in the kitchen. Raoudha and Hasna are no exception. They love to cook, and they took great pride in sharing their family recipes with me. In many ways, Discovering Tunisian Cuisine

From Groucho to Gauchos: Adventures of a Documentary Filmmaker describes the life of Judith Dwan Hallet and the unique peoples and cultures she encounters during a five decade career. When Hallet began making films, it was a man's world. Never is a personal journal recording Judith Dwan Hallet's time with two fabulous women in their kitchens.

You can order either/both of Ms. Dwan Hallet's books by emailing her at judy.hallet@gmail.com detected, always determined, Hallet's passion for recording the stories of people and their cultures, documenting their lives, concerns, joys and disappointments, drove her to continue, despite the obstacles placed in her way.

Khentopia by Job van Zuijlen

Khentopia is a peaceful society on the planet Zeeray, where chanting at the Harmony Center creates ethereal energy that powers a protective shield around the planet. One of the chanters is Lheandor Tamarindh.

However, danger is near. The crew of the raider ship Space Wolf plans to disrupt the chanting to break the shield. Their scheme works, leading to a disastrous event during Lheandor's chanting shift, resulting in massive destruction.

Lheandor disappears from his peaceful home and wakes up in a dark, threatening world where he is blamed for sabotage.

In this alternate Khentopia, he finds refuge and a new life in the secluded settlement of Zonderstad with his girlfriend Constance.

Five years later, his life is disrupted again when he discovers a dangerous project that could destroy his original Khentopia. To prevent this disaster, Lheandor must use all his creativity and determination as he and his fellow travelers embark on a risky journey filled with unknown threats and challenges, in a race against time.
